COAL STRIKE MEASURE IS INTRODUCED

Senator Kenyon Rushes
Bill to Head Off Possible Disorder

FORMS NEW BOARD

Enforcing Power Is Publicity and Force of Public Opinion

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—In an effort to avert the threatened coal strike and to prevent future coal disputes, Senator Kenyon, Iowa, today introduced a bill creating a tribunal to adjust differences between miners and operators.

While it probably would be impossible to pass the Kenyon bill before the present strike situation reached its climax, the fact that congress is at work upon such a measure might stave off the impending trouble, many senators believe.

The bill, a direct outgrowth of the recent West Virginia investigation made by Kenyon's committee, creates a labor board of nine members—three representatives of the operators, three of the miners and three of the public. At least one member of the public group must concur in all decisions of the board.

Publicity and the force of public opinion is the only enforcing power behind the board's rulings.

UNITED MINE WORKERS CONVENE

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 14.—An industrial war, tying up America's soft coal output and possibly paralyzing transportation, threatened the nation today as 2300 delegates to the United Mine Workers' convention met to determine their policies.

Agents of the government were seen about union headquarters and in corridors circling Tomlinson hall, when the miners convened. They made daily reports to the department of labor.

Unless mine owners agree to meet their employees in interstate wage conferences before the present agreement expires at midnight March 31, the coal diggers are expected to drop their picks without orders from union headquarters.

CREDIT MEN MARK ANNIVERSARY OF LINCOLN'S BIRTH

Open Weekly Luncheon
by Singing "America" in Chorus

Observing Lincoln's birthday, the weekly luncheon and meeting of the Glendale Credit association was opened by the members singing "America." This was one of the most enthusiastic meetings ever held by the organization. There were 41 members present and several new members were added to the list.

The membership committee under the chairmanship of Arthur H. Dibern, reported progress in the campaign for membership among the business and professional men of the city. The committee is bending every effort during the month of February toward gaining new members. It is pointing out that membership in the credit association at present will not be so costly as it will within a few months when the information to be obtained at the credit bureau of the organization is more extensive.

During the luncheon a round table discussion of business methods and the extending of credits were discussed. Several of the members made informal talks along these lines and the meeting adjourned, with the members again singing "America."

COMMUNITY SING IS GREAT SUCCESS

An audience of 150 came out to enjoy the community sing held in the First Methodist church Monday evening, which was led by Mrs. W. Q. Widows with Mrs. H. V. Brown at the piano. Mayor Robinson contributed several solos which were enthusiastically received, and the balance of the evening was given to the singing of old familiar songs. At the close of the evening a vote of thanks was given Mayor Robinson, Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Widows, and another vote to repeat the sing every two weeks at the same time and place. Mayor Robinson expressed his entire sympathy with the movement and promised to bring a group of musicians to the next sing, including the world famous violinist, John Marquardt.

Wonders How Artist Can Compress Untruth in So Small Space

Remarking that it is wonderful how much meanness and how many untruths an artist may compress into one cartoon, Henry James in his comment on the day's news refers to a cartoon appearing in one of the Hearst newspapers. Mr. James pays his respects to the newspaper and the artist in no uncertain terms, but adds: "Stupidity kills the desired effect, and robs the artist of capacity for mischief." James W. Foley in "The Listening Post" tonight says we have to hand it to Henry, rather a slang phrase, he admits, but says there seems no other way to put it. Then he sums up the doings of Mr. Ford and concludes in this manner: "We may wonder at him, abuse him, doubt him, and inveigh against him, but he is no laughing matter."

Dr. Frank Crane under the heading, "Which is the Most Expensive?" discusses victory and defeat in war and wonders whether the conquerors or the conquered are the victors.

There are able editorialists, wise sayings, poetry, paragraphs and featured articles by Della Stewart and John Pilgrim. There is comment from eastern newspapers and scientific facts, all going to make the best editorial page published in any newspaper in the west.

RECORDS NEEDED FOR MUSIC PRIZE

Committees for Music Memory Contest Are Named

Committees are being appointed in connection with the music memory contest. Dr. Ripley Jackson having been named as chairman of the prize committee, those serving with him being Mrs. Edith Gregg and Mrs. G. D. Roach.

Mrs. H. E. Bartlett will serve as chairman of judges and will appoint the other members of the committee.

Mrs. Spencer Robinson reports much enthusiasm exhibited by school children Monday in regard to the contest and there is every prospect that it will go "big." There is still need of more records in the schools, and persons interested who are disposed to provide them are requested to communicate with Mrs. Spencer Robinson, Mrs. Frank Arnold or Mrs. J. Allen Legge.

CONGRESS WAITS

Belief President Will Declare Bond Issue Is Unpractical

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—The soldier bonus problem may be taken up by President Harding and his cabinet today. Congress waited for some guiding word from the President on the question. There was a growing belief that Harding would tell the conferees that the bond issue plan was impractical. House and senate conferees on the bonus bill anticipate word that if congress cannot fix a tax plan to pay the bonus then the whole bonus plan is a failure. Meantime republican leaders dealing with the ticklish bonus situation were slated to meet again today, anticipating that the President would communicate with them during the morning.

C. E. CELEBRATES 41ST BIRTHDAY WITH DINNER

Rev. C. A. Cole Discusses Upon Purposes and Ideals of Society

The 41st anniversary of the founding of Christian Endeavor societies was celebrated Monday night at Central Christian church with a banquet and program. The banquet, which was in charge of the Women's Bible class, was served at 6:30. Rev. C. A. Cole acting as toastmaster. The long tables were decorated in the Christian Endeavor colors of purple and gold and these same colors were used throughout the banquet hall. Rev. Cole gave the first toast "Why We Are Here." The next number on the program was "We All Sing" in which everybody took part in singing several songs. "When and Where I Joined Christian Endeavor" was very interesting as everyone present told what society they joined first and where it was. "The Old Original Society," was given by E. M. Potter and A. Society of H. H. Kewen. "The Church Without a Church" was given by Mrs. Maude Smith. Miss Lulu Ethel Garton, a missionary, gave a talk on "What Christian Endeavor Has Meant to a Missionary." Another "peppy" talk was given by Cleo C. Stoler on "What Is Christian Endeavor?" Little Miss Eubanks gave a very cute little talk on "Juniors Coming Up."

"A Church Without a Christian Endeavor" was given by Miss Janet Peters. A trio composed of Miss Ruby Eubanks, Miss Florence Stevens and Miss Garnet Peters then sang several pleasing selections. "Can Christian Endeavor Do Anything for the College Student," proved to be an interesting number given by Lois Griswold, a college boy. "Meeting," by Miss Florence Stevens and "The Church Board and Christian Endeavor," by A. B. Hancock were both interesting numbers. Floyd Mercer gave a talk on "The Bible School and Christian Endeavor," which was followed by a solo by Harry Marple. Leslie Bennett spoke of "The Kind of a President I'd Like to Be," and this was followed by the benediction.

They who put off registration until tomorrow, and tomorrow until tomorrow, are not taken seriously in the world of politics and government.

They are the unthinking, futile, protesting crowd of miscellaneous people who expend their energies in assailing government, parties and candidates—just a collection of discontented individuals, whom no one takes seriously for all their dark threats of reforming politics, because since they have not been true to their suffrage trust have not been true to themselves or their state, therefore unworthy of even a moment's consideration. If they exercised an atom of appreciation of their opportunity right now they will have less reason to protest after election. For they would register with the earnest people who are registering today. But the majority never register.

It does not matter to what party they belong, they have a personal responsibility to enroll for their party primary today or any day between now and the early days of spring. The fact that registration closes thirty days before the primary does not allow for voluntary delay.

LITERARY SECTION ENJOYS GATHERING

Tuesday Afternoon Club
Is Entertained by Mrs.
Hayward

The Literary section of the Tuesday club enjoyed quite a party Monday at the home of Mrs. E. W. Hayward on North Kenwood where it was entertained. Mrs. A. C. Ayars gave current events and the hostess a paper on national music and musicians, which was illustrated by piano numbers played by her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Julian Hayward.

Refreshments were served in which the valentine motif was carried out. Mrs. Frank Ayars was the honoree of the day as her birthday occurs this week. A number of guests were present including Mrs. Herman Schroeder of Chicago, who has recently come to California and is living in Verdugo canyon, also Mrs. R. E. Shepard of Jerome, Idaho, and Mrs. Trask, sister of Mrs. Edgar Leavitt.

AGAIN FIGURES IN SENSATIONAL SUIT

Mrs. Helen Elwood Stokes and her multi-millionaire husband, W. E. D. Stokes, who is 72, are again causing a sensation in New York courts. Mrs. Stokes charges her husband used fraud and force to make her sign away her dower rights. She also charges that he threatened to "break every bone in her body" and to let a negro into her boudoir if she did not bow to his will.

Have You Registered?

The selection of the representatives at Washington of the state of California and of the administration of the state, a matter of vital importance to every man and woman in California, is being made today.

There is today, of course, no election. There has not even been a primary. There will not be a primary until the summer. The actual candidates will then be named.

But we insist that the actual selection is being made today for this reason:

Those who have the welfare of the state at heart, who are earnest and conscientious in the exercise of their franchise rights, who believe that when they fail to register their choice they are issuing a proxy for someone else to do his or her selecting and thinking—all these earnest people are registering today. And that kind of people vote at the primary.

Another class not actuated by such high ideals is also registering. These have reasons to promote the election of candidates that may not be desirable administrators of the welfare of the people of the state. But they and their friends are registering right now.

Both these classes of people, the earnest people who take their government seriously and those who take it as an adjunct to their personal fortunes, have, since the American government was formed, been the ones that fought for and against good government. They are the minority of the great mass of voters who have always held control of government, either for good or bad.

They who put off registration until tomorrow, and tomorrow until tomorrow, are not taken seriously in the world of politics and government.

They are the unthinking, futile, protesting crowd of miscellaneous people who expend their energies in assailing government, parties and candidates—just a collection of discontented individuals, whom no one takes seriously for all their dark threats of reforming politics, because since they have not been true to their suffrage trust have not been true to themselves or their state, therefore unworthy of even a moment's consideration. If they exercised an atom of appreciation of their opportunity right now they will have less reason to protest after election. For they would register with the earnest people who are registering today. But the majority never register.

It does not matter to what party they belong, they have a personal responsibility to enroll for their party primary today or any day between now and the early days of spring. The fact that registration closes thirty days before the primary does not allow for voluntary delay.

The decision for them to make today is whether they are going to stand with the sincere people of the state for good government, register and secure a good candidate at the primaries, or whether they are going to let the other people do it and let them carry on against opposing forces, going to slack on their citizenship or going to answer to their name. Having made the decision today it would ill become them to protest the result after registration closes. If the state gets into hands that bring evil to it and to themselves personally, blame themselves first and the instrumentality last.

If they have decided and will register and only then can they regard themselves as responsible citizens and boosters for the welfare of the state.

Healthy civic life is shown best by a strong registration. We expect Glendale to put itself on record.

SOUTHERN LEADERS TO MEET
HOUSTON, Texas, Feb. 14.—Hundreds of prominent business, financial and political leaders of the South will meet here at the fourteenth annual convention of the Southern Commercial Congress, October 11 to 16 inclusive. The convention will discuss general economic questions. Governors of sixteen Southern States will participate. Women's Auxiliaries, the United States Association of Mayors, the Federal and State departments of agriculture and similar bodies will be represented.

SHOW PLANS FOR A NEW SCHOOL UNIT

Final Design by Architect Priest Calls for Handsome Structure

BROADWAY TYPE

Auditorium 100 by 65
Feet; All Departments
Provided for

The final plans for the new Intermediate school, designed by Architect Alfred Priest of this city and to be built at Glendale and Park avenues, call for a handsome structure of brick exterior which is somewhat similar in its arrangement of rooms to the Broadway school.

On either side of the central entrance corridor are administrative rooms, the waiting room and principal's office being on one side, the teachers' room on the other.

Beyond this entrance hall and across the main corridor is the auditorium, 100 by 65 feet, running to the west and lighted by windows on the north and south. There are four class rooms on the front of the building, two of which are lighted by east windows. The end class rooms which project forward a few feet, have a blank east wall which is decorated with terra cotta panels, the rooms being lighted by windows on the south and the north exposures.

Ultimate plans for the enlargement of the building should more class rooms be needed in the future, call for the addition of two more class rooms to be added to these end rooms to form the head of wings running west parallel with the auditorium extension but with rectangular courts between the wings and the auditorium to prevent any shutting off of light.

The rooms on the west side of the corridor on the main floor are devoted to manual arts department on one side and to the cooking rooms of the domestic science department on the other.

On the second floor are four more class rooms similar to those below, except that one will be specially adapted to music and art classes. The central space above the main entrance has been reserved for the sewing room. The building will face east on Glendale avenue.

NUPTIAL DATE IS FUNCTION'S NOTE

Mrs. Green Announces
Date of Wedding in Novel Way

Mrs. E. E. Green of 528 Patterson avenue, entertained very charmingly Monday evening in honor of her daughter, Miss Eva Green, announcing the date of her marriage to Jack Jenkins, also of Glendale.

Valentine decorations were used throughout the house and the early part of the evening was spent in playing Bunko. Mrs. Marshall Pearson and Miss Evelyn Williams were awarded first prizes. The large double doors between the living and dining rooms were then opened and revealed a beautifully decorated table. Red baskets filled with nuts were used as favors and kewpie dolls were used on the table. From the chandelier hung a swing made of smilax and roses in which sat a kewpie doll dressed in red. From the kewpie doll dangled a red ribbon streamer to a valentine, on the back of which was the name of the month of March. The guests were all asked to guess the date and Miss Lois Webb received the prize for guessing it, the date being March 7. The prize was a heart-shaped box of candy.

After a delicious luncheon course had been served, Miss Green then showed the guests the many pretty things she had made for her hope chest. The guests for the evening included Miss Elizabeth Allen, Miss Evelyn Williams, Miss Dorothy Haig, Miss Helen Trebburgh, Miss Elaine Hudson, Miss Jane Snyder, Miss Pearl Pollock, Miss Lois Webb, Miss Harriett Barnes, Miss Edith Haggman, Mrs. Marshall Pearson, Mrs. C. L. Jenkins, Mrs. Edith Jenkins and Mrs. E. E. Green.

EXCHANGES OVERCOATS.

Someone broke into the home of Irving H. Oliver, 615 North Jackson street, last night. Before going the thief removed his coat and laid it on the ground outside. From the home he took one of Mr. Oliver's overcoats and a pair of gloves, the value of these being about $40. The visitor left his own coat on the ground beside the house.

SEATTLE, Feb. 14.—Stricken at his desk shortly after returning from a Lincoln day banquet of the Young Men's Republican club, Harold Gardiner Nicholas, managing editor of the Seattle Post-Intelligencer, died last night before physicians could reach him. Heart trouble is believed to have been the cause.

DEPORTATION SCARES TONG MURDERERS

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 14.—A lull today followed the outburst of the tong war on the coast. Chief of Police Dan O'Brien's threat to deport all tong men if hostilities were renewed was believed responsible for the lack of tong killings here.

Breaking a truce agreement by the Bing Konges not to carry a tong murder case into a civil court was believed by police to have been the cause of renewed hostilities.

SPRING WHEAT OPENS ON HIGH

CHICAGO, Feb. 14.—Wheat shot upward at the opening of the Chicago board of trade today. May wheat opening up 6-8 cents and July wheat up 5 cents over Saturday's close.

The advance was due to a rise in foreign markets yesterday. Unfavorable reports from Argentine and the fact that the drought in the southwest of the United States is assuming alarming proportions threatening a world crop shortage contributed to the advance.

GLENDALE DAY AT LONG BEACH SHOW

Chamber of Commerce
Organizes Motorcade
to the Beach City

Today is Glendale Day at the big Industrial Show that is being held during the week at Long Beach. In order that Glendale may be well represented at this event it is the plan of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce to have a large procession of automobiles filled with boosting citizens leave Glendale at 4 o'clock this afternoon and to attend the Industrial Show in a body tonight. In order that Glendale may be well represented at this event Secretary Rhoades of the Chamber of Commerce is issuing a call to all the automobile owners in this city to be on hand ready for the start at 4 o'clock. The idea of the chamber is to have at least 50 automobiles, each one to carry about half a dozen roofing boosters from Glendale and to make the folks down at Long Beach realize that there is such a place as Glendale in Southern California.

To those who are public spirited enough to make the Glendale delegation a real, sure-enough turnout, Mr. Rhoades has this to say: "We want 50 autos and 300 boosters; we want to go to the beach and paint Long Beach red, as they say. If you can furnish a machine kindly phone to me at the chamber today."

FORUM DINNER SUCCESS FORECAST

Acceptance of Invitations Are Being Received at the C. of C.

A large number of acceptances are being received in response to the invitations sent out recently by the chamber of commerce in connection with the first forum meeting to be held in the chamber's headquarters on South Brand boulevard next Thursday night.

The principal feature of the program will be an address by Dr. R. D. Bird, president of Occidental college. A telephone message was received from Dr. Bird saying that he would surely be on hand. The subject of his address will be "Community and City Cooperation." Dr. Henry Harrower will be master of ceremonies, while several musical selections will be rendered by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Girard, the well-known Glendale musicians. The working program for the coming year will then be taken up and various projects of public interest will be discussed. Mrs. Mattison B. Jones is now arranging for a number of musical numbers to be given by members of the Glendale Music club. The program will end with a few minutes given over to general discussion, any one present being permitted to bring forth matters that he or she believes would be of unusual interest to the citizens of Glendale. The program will be preceded by a banquet with real "cats," at 6:30 o'clock.

GIGANTIC SWINDLE IS UNEARTHED

Probe Shows Chicago
Aliens Were Robbed of Millions

OIL LEASES ARE USED

Police Seek Second Figure
in Operations of R. J.
Bischoff

CHICAGO, Feb. 14.—Operations of a gigantic swindle, trust which has robbed the foreign born of millions of dollars were unearthed today as police sought Leslie Harrington who fled Chicago shortly after his office was raided.

Others were involved in the "Ponzi plot" following probe of the affairs of Raymond J. Bischoff, 25, who admitted he drained $4,500,000 from Lithuanian stockyards employees.

Harrington was sought after police swooped down on the offices of the American Novacollite company and arrested President Luke Byrnes, Secretary Thomas Moran and Manager A. A. Lebecki. According to Lebecki, Harrington was the "genius" of the frenzied finance operation.

"We have given promissory notes for about $1,400,000 since the office opened," he said. "People came to us with their money and wanted to invest it for them. If they demanded their interest or original investment, we made them accept stock in the Novacollite company."

Large stocks of stock and books of promissory notes were seized by police in the raid. Bischoff, whose shattered financial ventures were aired before Federal Judge Landis, admitted that he and Harrington had worked together in some deals.

It was disclosed how the "wizards" fought over the spoils and used every effort to take each other's customers.

Operations of the Western Land Operators company came under the scrutiny of the police today. Casimir Philipovich was under arrest here and M. P. West was reported captured at Aurora, Colo. Both are alleged to be field agents of the company.

It was said by federal operatives that the company dealt with Lithuanians in oil land leases and had gathered in over $1,000,000.

THREE FACTIONS SEEK CONTROL IN IRELAND

De Valera Reported Plot-ting Republic and Ulster in Arms

LONDON, Feb. 14.—Ireland today trembled on the verge of open civil war between three factions. These factions are:

1. Supporters of Eamonn De Valera, who are reported plotting to overthrow the provisional government of the Irish Free State and proclaim a republic.

2. The provisional government of the Irish Free State, headed by Michael Collins.

3. Ulster, which is in arms against raids over its border by the republicans who want more of the territory, claimed by Ulster.

With evacuation of Ireland by the British army held up temporarily, the situation was more tense than at any time since the truce. Meanwhile the British house of commons has before it final ratification of the Irish peace treaty formally establishing the free state.

There was a possibility that strong opposition to such ratification might develop if Ireland does not become more peaceful immediately. For the first time since the truce which preceded the peace negotiations, there were lorry loads of soldiers carrying rifles trundling about the streets of Cork today, a dispatch from that city said.

SNIPING IN STREETS.

BEIFAST, Feb. 14.—Casualties in the street fighting here between Sinn Feiners and Ulstermen mounted to a total of 15 dead and 50 wounded today.

There was intermittent sniping all during the morning. The government has halted military evacuation of Ireland. Winston Churchill announced in the house of commons today.

"IT'S THE TAIL THAT MAKES THE BEAST"

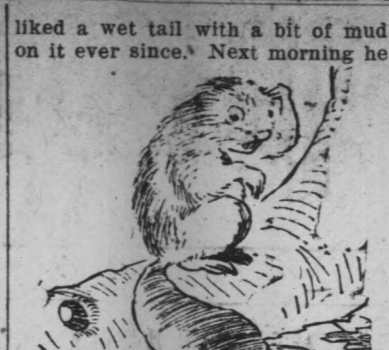

By JOHN BARTON

(Copyright, 1921, by Associated Newspapers)

"I'll tell you. It's the tail that makes the beast," said Dr. Muskrat impressively. "Just the story of the First Squirrel and the First Beaver proves that. When they fell asleep in their old oak tree, before the Big Flood began, they were exactly alike. It was just the accident to one's tail made all the difference between them."

"That fine mud poultice the big he-seal brought up from the deep-down bottom of the Flood took out all the swelling. But the damage was done. Only he didn't know it. All night long that first Beaver-in-the-making dangled it in the water to keep the mud from drying out. All night long the two seals snoozed beside him with their flippers dipped in to warn the fishes not to nibble at him. (Fishes are mighty scared of a seal.) My, how good it felt! Beavers have

"All night long that first Beaver-in-the-making dangled it in the water," was wearing a regular ear-tickler of a smile. "Didn't that please his mate?"

"Come along," said she. "Come up here into the high-up twigs where you can toast in the sun. I'll show you where the fattest acorns hang. Off she skipped, nimble as a grasshopper in a grain field, to show him the way. So he tried, too. But slip me, if he could climb! "Nemmine 'bout those acorns," he sighed. "I'll just nibble a bit of bark like I've been doing." So not another inch higher could he get him to come. Pretty soon he said, "Aie, this wind blows mighty cold!" "Wrap your tail 'bout your middle to keep it warm," says she. "Ow, the sun's shining spang into my eyes," he complains next. "Cook up your tail for a par-sol," she advises him. "Mate," says he soberly, "the plain truth is there's no bend left in it." "Come to find out, that pine tree had smashed it flat, just as flat as you Beavers still wear it. "Of course, his squirrelly little wife raised an awful wall. She was filling the wide, wide wind with the news of it. But the seals said, "What's wrong with a lovely paddle like that? Why, who has a better thing to swim with?" "So he sensibly comforted her. It's all right. I'll just stay in the water while you enjoy yourself up in the air, so we'll both be making the best of it."

Next story: CAN A SQUIRREL SWIM?

One indication that we're getting back to normalcy is finding the majority of men "hard up" again who spent money like princes for a few years.

ISITT EULOGIZES GLENDALE IN VERSE

"The Jewel City," says R. P. Isitt, vice-president of the Simon Brick Co., "is a place where shines the sun a bit more bright, where lawns are green, and flowers bloom, and night brings rest and healthful sleep; and the tonic of her gentle mountain breeze, laden with the perfume of flowering trees, restores lost strength and fits for duties new. Where, with the morning light the soul with rapture thrills at the sun tipped beauteous of her sentinel hills; the birds their joyous music sing, and distant mountain peaks their daily inspiration bring. Where all is fresh and clean and bright, and neither grime nor age have left their blight upon the monuments of men. Where the sick regain their health, and aged ones defy the stealth of time, and live content. "A place where home folk come to raise their brood, where there is less of evil and more of good. Where children thrive and neighbors live as friends, while each, as best he may, the common weal defends. "The Jewel City set among the hills, with shady groves, and glens, and rippling rills, and home, and church, and school, and lodge, and neighbors, fills the heart with happiness, and all desire for other earth by haven stills. It is GLENDALE my home."

A man can make a good bluff by looking wise and keeping his mouth closed. Satan loves hypocrites because they serve him best and are satisfied with low wages.

AT MEADOWS' HOME

Mrs. Charles Meadows of 721 North Brand boulevard entertains Monday with a delightful bridge-luncheon in honor of Mrs. A. J. Winchell, who is visiting here from Winnipeg, Canada. Red roses and yellow acacia blossoms were used on the bridge tables, and the valentine idea was carried out throughout the luncheon, by the use of valentine place cards and score cards.
There were six tables of bridge. The guests included Mrs. G. D. Roach, Mrs. J. I. Wernette, Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, Mrs. R. E. Chase, Mrs. Colin Cable, Mrs. A. M. Draper, Mrs. Wallace Walker, Mrs. E. E. East, Mrs. F. J. Rogers, Mrs. Harry Powers, Mrs. H. Bonduax, Mrs. R. A. Puffer, Jr., Mrs. A. C. Parker, Mrs. J. Baum, Mrs. R. D. Angelica, Mrs. Leon Hagood.

CREAM CLEARS A STUFFED-UP HEAD

Instantly Opens Every Air Passage—Clears Throat Too.

If your nostrils are clogged and your head is stuffed because of a cold, apply a little pure, antiseptic cream into your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage, soothing and healing swollen, inflamed membranes and you get instant relief. Try this. Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm at any drug store. Your clogged nostrils open right up; your head is clear; no more yawning or sniffling. Count fifty. All the stuffiness, dryness, struggling for breath is gone. You feel fine.—Adv.

NOTICE OF HEARING PROTESTS AGAINST THE LAYING OUT OF HAWTHORNE STREET

Notice is hereby given that protests have been filed with the undersigned City Clerk of the City of Glendale against the opening and laying out of Hawthorne Street from the western line of Pacific Avenue to the eastern line of San Fernando Road, in the manner contemplated by Ordinance of Intention No. 521, passed by the Council of the City of Glendale January 5, 1922, and that said Council has fixed February 15, 1922, at 7:00 o'clock P. M. as the time for hearing said protests. Given by order of said Council made this 9th day of February, 1922.

J. VAN WIE,
City Clerk of the City of Glendale.

METHODISTS READY FOR BIG BANQUET

George E. Jeffries Heads Men's Committee on Supplies

The Brotherhood of the First M. E. church are busy preparing for a big event on Friday evening. At 6:30 there will be a banquet, the menu providing for oysters, salad, rolls and butter, doughnuts, coffee and apple pie. The committee in charge of this part of the affair is composed of George E. Jeffries, chairman; W. A. Webster, T. A. Wright, C. E. Russell and H. A. Wilson. At 7:30 there will be vocal and instrumental music, followed by an address by Dr. Byron H. Wilson, superintendent of the Los Angeles district.

Ing. covers were laid for about 80 boys, leaders and guests. The orator of the evening was Charles Paddock, world's champion runner, who spoke on the value of sacrifice in athletics, in business, in life everywhere.

Y. M. C. A. work for foreign boys was presented by George Jordan. And a free will offering was taken.

During the supper orchestral numbers were given by some of the boys who are members of the high school orchestra.

C. W. Ingledue and Dr. Anderson gave words of greeting.

THE VANCES ENTERTAIN CHAPTER MEMBERS

Ira L. Vance, high priest of Unity chapter No. 116, R. A. M. of Glendale, and Mrs. Vance, of 121 East Avenue 52, Los Angeles, entertained at dinner on Saturday evening the officers of the chapter. Covers were laid for 17. The table and rooms were attractively decorated with yellow Wattle acacia. In addition to the host and hostess, place cards were laid for Fred A. Collins, Thos. F. Carter, Bert E. Warner, Benjamin O. Hagen, Alfonso L. Chandler, Charles P. Chamberlain, Robert T. Lawson, Wiley I. Gibb, William H. Reynolds, Monte C. Brucker, Donald C. Lindley, Mark T. Lee, Dall O. Peet, Ernest J. Morgan and John McKee. Owing to business engagements Fred A. Collins and Bert E. Warner were unable to be present.

After an elaborate and most enjoyable dinner, the evening was spent with music and singing, and the hour was late when the party dispersed and returned to Glendale.

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL VALENTINE PARTY

The valentine party of the E. Section of the Ladies' Aid, First Congregational church, given Monday evening in the church, proved a delightful social affair and yielded a return of about $15 for the church fund.

Colored hearts were used in decoration and a program was given which included a pantomime by Clarence Hanson and Marjorie Yarrick; a parody on "Comin' Through the Rye," played and sung by Mrs. Charles A. Parker; numbers by a vocal quartette composed of Mr. and Mrs. Blake Franklin and Mr. and Mrs. Peter Hanson; reciting by Mr. Hanson, and farewell song by girls in the class of Miss Flora Eates.

Following the program hot chocolate and heart-shaped cookies were served.

MADRIGAL CLUB STAGES ENCORE

The Madrigal club of which Mrs. Charles A. Parker is the director, is repeating the colonial concert it recently gave at Glendale Union high school at the Congregational church on the 21st as a benefit for the organ fund of the new church.

This is the third year that this organization has been re-hearsing and its work has attained a finish which speaks well for both members and directors. It is in the strong and earnest clubs of the town. The concert mentioned has been given a charming setting by colonial costumes, and is very much worth while. It will also be given on the 22nd at La Crescenta.

MRS. TOWNSEND GIVES Dainty Party

A very charming Valentine dinner and dance was given Saturday night by Miss Regina Townsend of 807 North Brand boulevard. Table decorations were American Beauty roses and fern, and favors were red hearts filled with candies. The guests were Miss Thelma Chant, Miss Doris Sellers, Miss Margaret Farrier, Lawrence Conway, Ross Uquardt, Eddie Peddis and Albert Townsend. Following the dinner the guests danced and played games and spent a most enjoyable evening.

MRS. BRANDSTATER HAS HOUSE GUESTS

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Brandstater of 401 West Wilson have as house guests Mr. and Mrs. Sencer and Miss Barkley of Long Beach. Mr. Sencer underwent an operation at the Glendale Sanitarium, Monday morning, and was afterwards taken to the home of Dr. and Mrs. Brandstater where he will be a guest for a week or two.

FOOD SALE OF WAR MOTHERS IS SUCCESS

The food sale held Saturday as a benefit for the Lester Meyer Chapter of War Mothers was a great success, netting the chapter $17. It was held at Glendale avenue and Broadway and was in charge of Mrs. Cowlin and Mrs. Paul Wells.

H-Y BOYS ARE ENTERTAINED

At the banquet prepared by boys of the various H-Y groups under the direction of Mrs. Rex Kelley, in the banquet hall of the First Methodist church Monday evening.

Salvation Army Chief Flays Modern Women

Commander Evangeline Booth, of the Salvation Army, in an announcement made at San Francisco, where she had gone to attend a conference of the organization congress, says that if the modern women would think more of "lending a helping hand" than worrying about their next bridge game and other "useless" recreations, poverty and homelessness would disappear from this country in a short space of time.

TOWN BUILT FOR IRON TRAIL SET

To re-populate and revivify a dead and deserted town of less than two hours, is a feat worthy of the most able organizers and capable engineers, and were it accomplished as a purely commercial enterprise, it would be reported throughout the world as a marvelous achievement. But accomplished as it recently was by the Rex Beach company for the purpose of making scenes for "The Iron Trail," which will be the feature at the Glendale theatre today and tonight, it was looked upon merely as part of a day's work, and an incident in efficient motion picture making.

However, the residents of Dover, N. J., were amazed one morning when they discovered that over night, their neighboring town of Hibernia, or Oreville, as it is sometimes called, which had been deserted for over nine years, was again alive with people and to all appearances was a thriving, prosperous town.

Early the evening before, the Rex Beach players, one thousand strong, had taken possession of deserted Oreville, by permission of the Wharton & Northern railroad that owns the townsite, and its stent houses were re-peopled, its stores re-opened, and a municipal government installed, presided over by "Mayor" Rex Beach, himself.

IOWANS SCHEDULE ANOTHER BIG TIME

This will be your call, Iowans, to the jolly picnic on February 22, in Lincoln park, Los Angeles. If rainy that date it goes over to Saturday the 25th. This is given under the auspices of the Iowa association of Southern California. Judge Charles S. Crail, president, will preside and is in charge of all arrangements. Ninety-nine county headquarters—ninety-nine picnics running at once. Bring basket dinners and your coffee. We have strong hopes of having Herbert C. Hoover as one of our speakers and our own popular governor, Hon. Wm. D. Stephens, will be another. Two hundred thousand Hawkeyes of the west are watching for the news. Talk, write, phone. Ask your questions of C. H. Parsons, secretary, phone 10261. Continental National bank, Ninth and Main, Los Angeles.

ELKS HOLD BUSINESS MEETING

The meeting of the Elks' lodge Monday night was a quiet business session which was over by 10 o'clock. The lodge will give a masquerade party for members only the evening of February 25.

MRS. SHAW HAS BOYS' PARTY

Mrs. Hartley Shaw is entertaining a Sunday school class of 30 boys from 11 to 14 years of age at her home on West Park avenue tonight, at a cafeteria supper to be followed by an evening of games. She will be assisted by Mrs. A. S. Chase of Riverdale Drive.

CONGREGATIONAL WOMEN MEET THURSDAY

The Women's Missionary Society of the Congregational Church is meeting Thursday of the present week in the afternoon with Mrs. A. M. Green at 620 North Kenwood. China will be the subject.

MISS ANDREWS RECEIVES SAD NEWS

Sorrow has come to Miss Andrews, new teacher at Intermediate, who has received a telegram announcing the death of her mother of influenza in Seattle.

MISS MIDCALF IS ABSENT

Miss Clara Midcalf was absent from her classes in Intermediate Monday on account of the serious illness of an aunt living in Los Angeles.

Mrs. R. E. Shepard is entertaining Mrs. E. W. Hayward, Mrs. Julian Hayward and Mrs. Durham Porter Wednesday at luncheon at the Victor Hugo and afterwards at the Kinema theatre, where Victor Herbert, the celebrated orchestral leader, is playing this week.

MRS. PARKE TO ENTERTAIN CLUB

Mrs. E. L. Parke, worthy matron of Glen Eyrie chapter, O. E. S., is entertaining the social club of the chapter Wednesday afternoon at her home, 377 West Lexington.

THE GOLOSH MUST GO

DENVER, Feb. 14.—Wool stockings got by. The low necked waist wasn't taboo by any means. Short skirts were even acclaimed. But the golosh must go.

This is the edict of social leaders among the male students at Denver university as regards co-ed at that institution. The men believe it's the girls' business to wear what they want, but the flogging of the ungainly golosh causes the university males some concern. When it snowing or raining, the golosh is quite the thing, but they can't understand why the co-eds want to wear them down the streets when there's no dampness underfoot or overhead.

DO YOU WANT TO CARE FOR A BOY?

Can You Find Room for a Feller Who Has No One?

Do you want a boy in your home—a bright, red-blooded youngster who hasn't any daddy or mother but wants one right away? Fine, manly fellows with industrious habits are worth having nowadays and these boys—aged 8 to 15—will certainly not be home less much longer. They've been in training for several weeks at the Los Angeles headquarters of the California Children's Home, society. You ought to see the way they can set a dinner table and clean up after meals!

There are nine of them—every one an obedient, good-natured, optimistic fellow. But each wants a real home just a little more than he wants anything else in the world and would be tickled almost to pieces to have some man or woman walk into the home and claim him as a "son."

Mrs. Jessie Jordan, superintendent of the society, has supplied the following "close-up" on each boy and adds:

"You can be sure these fellows are real and genuine—just the kind, with suitable homes, to make the best of men as fast as they can grow up. Any childless couple in California has only to make application to the receiving homes of the Children's Home society at 3491 Sixty-sixth avenue, Oakland, or 919 East Twenty-fifth street, Los Angeles, to be considered as prospective parents for one of these fine boys."

1. Harry—A polite youngster of 13, obedient and careful. American born and a good worker.

2. Paul S.—Cheerful, loving and industrious. An American boy of 9.

3. Lorenzo—A Spanish youngster of 11; reliable, bright; the kind to make good on a farm.

4. Frank—A Spanish boy of 8; knows how to obey orders.

5. Croft—A boy who will develop rapidly under the care of foster parents; American born, 10 years old; good worker.

6. Robert—A neglected boy who needs only care to develop; responds to love; American, 8 years.

7. Paul C.—A willing, obedient, good-natured Spanish boy, 10 years.

8. Ray—Fine disposition; affectionate; responds to firm, kind treatment. An American boy; good scholar; aged 11.

9. Emery—A good looking boy of 11 with happy disposition; full of pep and promise. American and 11 years old.

RADIO AS MAILMAN

CHEBOYGAN, Mich., Feb. 14.—Another use for the radio has been found by the Kretan Lumber Co. of Johnwood, Drummond island. The radio is used by the company for dispatching and receiving of important mail. Ordinarily it takes several days for the mail of the company to go from Johnwood via the Soo to the mainland of Michigan. To obviate this the company uses the radio to Cheboygan and W. W. Kathan, local radio operator, forwards the letters from and directs replies mailed to Cheboygan and they are repeated by radio service between the two places. Four days' time is saved by this method, it is estimated.

BARBERED BY APPOINTMENT

FLINT, Mich., Feb. 14.—"Next," the woman made the barber shop famous, and incidentally, that spelled success for manufacturers of safety razors, has been eliminated from use here. A recent addition to the tonsorial trade, conducted by two enterprising young barbers, has a select list of patrons and all work is carried on by appointment. A regular production schedule is carried out smoothly by notifying each "client" by telephone of his turn.

RIVAL ROOTERS MEET

EAST LANSING, Feb. 14.—Rival rooters may get slightly twisted next fall when the grid teams of Massachusetts Agricultural college and Michigan Agricultural college clash here. The two "M. A. C.'s" have strong alumni ties. President Butterfield of the Massachusetts Aggies is a Michigan Aggie graduate, while Curry, director of athletics at the Bay State college, Treasurer F. C. Kenny and Dr. Marshall all received their degrees from Michigan.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

HILMER E. BERGMAN

BURBANK, Feb. 14.—On Thursday afternoon the funeral services of Hilmer E. Bergman were held in the undertaking parlor of A. C. Fillbach. Cremation followed at Forest Lawn cemetery. The deceased was born in Washington, 20 years ago. A news the son of E. J. Bergman of 439 East San Fernando boulevard, the home where the death occurred. Other survivors are a brother and an uncle. Tuberculosis was the cause of the death and it was also the cause of the death of the mother and another brother who died about two months apart two years ago.

MRS. SUSAN WOLFROM

Mrs. Susan Wolfrom, 1323 South Glendale avenue, passed away Saturday, February 11, 7:45 a. m., at the age of 83 years. Mrs. Wolfrom left to mourn her death eight children, three of whom were with her at the time of death. They were Mrs. Isaac Culp of Columbia, O.; Mrs. Ben King and Mrs. W. A. King of Glendale. The body will be shipped to Salda, Colo., Tuesday, February 14, and will be accompanied by Mrs. Culp. Mrs. Wolfrom had resided in Glendale for two years with her daughter, Mrs. W. A. King, on South Glendale avenue.

PERSONAL

This is not an advertisement—but my personal statement to the public of Glendale.

I regard "Molly-O" as one of the greatest of all motion pictures. It is a picture that goes straight to the heart of life—sparkles with the joy of Living and thrills with Happiness. It is Faith—Humor—Pathos—Beauty—Romance. See "MOLLY-O." Bring the children. After you have seen it you will tell your friends the same that I have told you here.

$35,000 BUSINESS NO. BRAND LAND BLOCK PLANNED IN GREAT DEMAND FOR BRAND

Rommel Construction Co.
Will Start Work at
N. W. Corner Doran

A business block to cost about $35,000 will be started soon by the Rommel Construction company on the northeast corner of Brand boulevard and Doran street. This building will be of two stories and will have a floor plan 50 by 130 feet in size. Work on this structure will start within 60 days and it will not take longer than 90 days to complete.

On the main floor there will be seven stores. Three of these will face on Brand and will be 16 by 60 feet in size. Four store rooms will face Doran. One of these will be 17 by 50 feet, two will be 16 by 50, and one will be 16½ by 50. These will be modern in every way and will contain a number of features "all their own."

On the second floor of this building there will be three double and five single apartments. All up-to-date features will be embodied in the apartments, including tile baths, hardwood floors throughout, and many built-in features. The leasing of this building is in the hands of Endicott & Larson, which firm is also in charge of leasing the C. R. Bassell block at the northeast corner of Lexington and Brand, to which the finishing touches are now being put. All of the upstairs has been leased. In this building there are three store rooms on Brand and two on Lexington.

"There is an unusually keen demand at this time for North Brand boulevard business property," said Mr. Endicott of Endicott & Larson Realty company, 116 South Brand boulevard. "This demand is doubtless stimulated by the unusual amount of building that has been done on North Brand during the past few weeks, and from the fact that, although it is not generally known, a number of other buildings are contemplated for that section in the near future."

"North Brand has a wonderful future from the fact that in most successful cities the business section usually follows the best class of residences and goes toward the higher ground of the city. There are hundreds of acres in the northern, northeastern and northwestern sections of the city for the business territory on North Brand to draw from. This vast territory is sure to make North Brand boulevard a real business territory."

"Property values on North Brand boulevard at $200 per front foot at this time will be worth $600 or $700 per foot within two years. This is my prediction. Corner properties in Hollywood have sold recently for $1050 to $2,000 per front foot. The lots on North Brand boulevard are about one-fifth the price of similar lots are being sold for in Hollywood."

"Homes in Glendale have been moving better during the past week. There are not a great many homes in Glendale on which the prices are inflated and regarding those that are properly priced there are more inquiries."

Miss Hilda Commons and W. E. High, who was formerly with the Charles B. Guthrie company, are now employed as salesmen by the Endicott & Larson company. The assessment department of this company has been moved from the ground floor office to Room 5 of the Glendale Shops building, this being to provide more room for realty department.

NEW STREETS SHOW DAILY ON EASTERN SUBDIVISIONS

Indicate Rapidity of the Growth in This Section

An idea of how rapidly the eastern section of Glendale is being cut up for subdivision purposes may be seen by the fact that in one particular locality—the foothill section at the eastern terminus of Broadway—the contract has just been let for the installing of six entirely new streets. These are Ellis avenue, Delaware avenue,
Hill avenue, Maryland avenue,
Eagle Dale avenue and Los Flores drive. This contract, which amounts to about $40,000, has just been awarded to P. L. Ferry, the leading street work contractor in the San Fernando valley.

These streets are being improved in an excellent manner. The roadways are being graded and given a covering of oil and screened rock, while sidewalks, curbs, and a 4-inch watermain laid, are being installed.

One subdivision that will be opened by the cutting through of these streets will be the tract that is being put on by J. C. Carson, consisting of 78 lots. Mr. Carson states that more than 50 per cent of the lots in his subdivision have already been disposed of, although the street improvement work has just started. Calls for lots in this tract are becoming more numerous daily, this speaking well for the eastern portion of the city. The Markey & May tract, consisting of about 70 lots will also be opened up by these streets. It is expected that this street work will be completed by May 1st.

Mr. Ferry is also finishing a $12,000 street work job for Mr.
Foley on Virginia avenue from Glenwood street to Kenneth road.
It is expected that this work will be finished by March 1.

UNDER SEVERE TEST

The moving picture industry is passing through an ordeal out of which it must emerge purified, if it is to hold as an industry, the place of importance to which it attained with speed unexampled. The public will welcome to the responsible headship of this great activity so keen an executive as Will Hays. It is confident that he will discern the weak spot in the mechanism.

To condemn the men and women of the movie world because of the acts of a few, manifestly would be unfair. That there have been men and women lifted into publicity through some peculiar adaptability to screen purposes, but who lacked the mental poise to remain unspoiled in their positions of eminence, is not to be denied. Nothing is plainer than that the receipt of incomes absurdly beyond the real worth of services rendered, or possible to be rendered, turned heads that lacked brain content. The operation was too nearly akin to setting a beggar on horseback. When a man or woman, who in another walk of life would have been deemed ordinary, found that by posing before the camera, more could be earned in a week than able folk could earn in a year, false standards were created, and the native intelligence, such as it was, was led astray, almost inevitably.

With an undreamed-of amount of money coming in, the recipient was in a new atmosphere. He or she ceased to be satisfied with an environment even baric in its exotic luxury. The movie stars to a certain extent became a class apart, making their own laws of propriety. This could not go on endlessly. That they must come again to earth was foredoomed, and they were not wise enough to come until the descent was a crash, with the color of tragedy, and the danger of abiding disaster.

The public feels a personal acquaintance with the stars it sees so often on the screen. For the character of many representative men and women of filmdom it has an admiration, based not alone upon their professional work, but on knowledge of their lives as individuals. And the public has reached a mood where it demands that the individuals shall be wholly decent. There was scant sympathy shown for Arbuckle after the revelation of his manner of life. There will be scant sympathy for others brought by their own acts under the shadow of disrepute.

Demand for reform appears not only as a matter of morals but of commercial acumen. The film industry must depend upon the excellence of its productions, but it cannot escape dependence also upon the real worth of the men and women portrayed in these productions. They are not mere shadows on a screen; they are actual persons, under every obligation of propriety that rests upon others entering into composition of the great structure of society.

BOGUS REVOLUTIONS

From time to time come reports of revolutionary activities in Mexico. They seem to be founded on nothing but the existence of occasional bands of ruffians engaged in marauding. They are the type of disturbers that in this country would be pursued by a sheriff's posse. If the Mexican bandit that the federal authorities hunt down and kill is to be classed as a revolutionist, then Jesse James was wronged by the failure to be enrolled in the revolutionary class.

Apparently there is nothing the matter with Mexico that the Obregon government is not capable of regulating. Of course there is the great handicap of popular ignorance, but this is a recognized problem, and is being dealt with earnestly and with intelligence.

There has been no adequate explanation of the reluctance to recognize Mexico. In the absence of any expressed reason, if there is a reason that might be expressed, the delay begins to take on the aspect of a discourtesy.

FIRE LOSSES

Few people recognize the stupendous total of the fire loss in this country. It is difficult to impress upon the average citizen a sense of the useless waste due to this cause. He does not believe his own house will burn. Admitting the possibility that it might burn, he feels a sense of security because of the insurance he carries.

Perhaps it would be possible to convey an idea of the loss by saying that it amounts to $1,370,000 every day in the year. Accompanying this loss is the average of fifty deaths of human beings.

A writer versed in statistics puts the matter plainly by assuming that the government levied a tax of $1,370,000 a day, which upon being collected was immediately to be destroyed. Such a demand would be resented and resisted as preposterous. Nor would assent be given to the sacrifice of fifty lives as incidental to the process of destruction. Yet this is what the fire loss means. Little excitement ensues. There are not to be observed any frantic endeavor to erect a barrier against the sweep of flames. People remain careless and indifferent. They so dispose of inflammable material as to promote the hazard of conflagration.

The people pay for all structures reared. The completed edifice represents a distinct value in labor, in the various substances entering into its composition. There is lumber, masonry, paint, plumbing, glass, furniture, all the definite expression of wealth. Fire obliterates building and content, and the wealth has vanished forever.

Thus there is a tax of more than five hundred million annually paid by the people of the United States, and paid for nothing. It is not paid to extinguish a lawful obligation. It is not formally levied and collected, but it is paid surely. It is wastage, nothing more. A large part of the payment could be avoided by exercise of the most obviously necessary precautions.

And then there is the average of fifty human lives daily; truly worth considering.

ACTORS ON FOOT

It is said there are more actors walking the streets of New York now than ever before. They are looking for jobs. It is not hard to understand why, in many instances, the search is futile. Shows are not prospering. They have been injured not alone by hard times, the reaction after the extravagance that followed the war. Doubtless the abundance of movie houses, comparatively cheap to the patron, has had effect. Railroad fares are so high that the traveling company that once could get as far west as Indiana before smashing up, and beating back to the metropolis for a fresh start, can't cross the Harlem now.

On the theory that all theatrical enterprise must originate in New York, the middle west, and certainly the Pacific coast, would have to go without witnessing a performance of the spoken drama. Fortunately the theory in question is defective. People crave amusements as ever. They are ready to patronize shows of merit at reasonable admission fees. It is not fair that the circumstance of living a long way from New York should deprive any of them of the privilege.

Companies could be organized on this coast as advantageously as on the Atlantic side. No reason is apparent why in respect of the drama in whatever phase, Chicago should allow itself to be overshadowed by New York. A solution, or at least a partial solution of the problem of stage unemployment lies in the stock company. This could play in its home city for long periods as has been demonstrated in Los Angeles and San Francisco. It could at intervals visit surrounding towns without dissipating all its income in fares.

But it may be there are too many actors of the mediocre type. This is a possible equation to be considered. Perhaps some of them will have to go to manual work.

When the date for trial of "the miracle man" arrived, it had to be postponed by reason of the illness of his lawyers. Remembering that the prisoner asserts his ability to cure by the laying on of hands, one is conscious of surprise that he permitted his counsel to languish.

Despite the wave of crime, of which occasional mention has been made, murders in Chicago have decreased by nearly 50 per cent. The explanation lies in the fact that Chicago got weary of pampering its crop of assassins, and tried the plan of hanging some of them and sending the rest to prison. Citizens of homicidal tendency naturally felt that this was an outrage, but they quit killing.

Three cabinet officers and a representative from each branch of congress will constitute the commission to arrange for funding of the foreign debt. There had been heard much protest against permitting the matter to rest solely in the hands of the secretary of the treasury. So far as ever indicated the administration never had any intention of placing such responsibility on Mellon alone.

A man carries economy to the extremes when he stops his clock every night just to save time.

Don't take a bull by the horns. Take him by the tail and then you can let go without getting some one to help you.

Which Is the Most Expensive?

By DR. FRANK CRANE

Some great man or other upon some great occasion or other said to somebody or other something to the effect that nothing was more terrible than defeat except victory.

War seems to be about as hard on the side which conquers as on the side which is conquered.

For instance, Louis Boudenoit, vice-president of the French senate, very strikingly puts the case for France by drawing a comparison between the state of things at the close of the war of 1870 and conditions now at the close of the last war.

In 1874 it was three years that France had been conquered. After her defeat she had to give up a piece of her flesh—Alsace and Lorraine.

She had to sign the treaty of Frankfurt with its unfavorable economic clauses. She had to submit to the occupation of German troops, and she had to consent to an indemnity that was enormous. In two years she paid up without chaffering and without those loud complaints with which Germany is now filling the ears of the world.

In December, 1921, France had been victorious for three years.

With the help of her friends and allies she has swept from her territory the enemy that had oppressed it for fifty months. She recovered two provinces which had been taken from her in 1870. She had been ravaged and harried in the years from 1914 to 1919 a hundred times worse than she had been in 1870. She lost 1,500,000 of her strongest men, and now has some two million of them mutilated to take care of. She has brought liberty and independence to a dozen small nations that have been oppressed by their tyrants.

During all this time Germany has not known the horrors of invasion, nor the barbarous treatment by brutal soldiers toward women, children, old men, and girls, nor the systematic destruction of mines and factories, nor the ruin of fields, nor the pillage of cities.

At the end of this victory France finds herself financially and economically in a situation infinitely worse than she found herself three years after her previous defeat.

It may be hard for Germany to pay up, but, says Boudenoit, "France can never pay her pensionaires, nor reconstruct her devastated regions, nor discharge her honorable debts unless Germany pays."

THE LISTENING POST

We have to hand it to Henry.
As the slingers would say.
And we regret to make use of language.
But there seems no other way to put it.
And it is not very offensive.

When we say Henry, you know who we mean.
Or whom we mean.
Whichever is the grammatical way to put it.
There is only one Henry.
Henry First, we might say.

All of us remember Henry Eighth.
With a wife for every one of his numbers.
But Henry First eclipses all the other Henrys.
And it may be that Henry First does not know who Henry Eighth was.
For it is said he is deficient in history.

But what he may lack in history he seems to make up in other things.
Especially machinery.
In that line of endeavor Henry makes them all sit up and notice carefully.

Not many years ago Henry was a kind of engineering tinker with an idea.
And the idea grew.
And started to sprout something.
And now there are as many sprouts of that idea running around on the road as there are Brussels sprouts in a cabbage field.
May be more of them.

All of which shows what you may do with an idea if you can get it to working.
Among a great number of people.
Henry's name is perhaps better known and repeated oftener and perhaps abused oftener than any other name in the world.
But like the sprout of the idea he had, he keeps on running.

A little while ago Henry was said to be broke.
In the financial sense of the term.
And then some way he peeled off a hundred million or so from his roll and paid his debts.
And continued to turn out ideas sprouts.

And then for good measure he ran for the senate.

And was defeated.
And not discouraged he offered to buy Muscle Shoals from the government.

At a cost of we do not know how many millions.
But enough to keep a good sized pack of wolves from a good many doors.
The peeling off of another few millions meant nothing whatever to Henry.
And the other day for diversion he chipped in a few more millions and bought another bankrupt company.

It is not clear from all accounts just what kind of a fellow Henry is.
But he seems to have a considerable reserve.
We look most any day at all for him to make an offer to buy the war department.
Or the navy department.
And scrap them both.

Any time Henry wants to fix something up that is not running right he offers to buy it.
And make it run.
And he seems to have the cash or the credit to buy what he wants.
All of which makes Henry interesting.
However he may be abused or ridiculed.

And the other day there was a suggestion that Henry was getting ready to run for president.
Which would not be at all surprising.
For Henry may be ignorant of history.
But he seems to be a live wire.

You notice we have not mentioned his last name.
Nor do we intend to.
These are not advertising columns.

SONGS OF THE POETS

The Prime of Life—By Walter Learned (1847-1915)

Just as I thought I was growing old,
Ready to sit in my easy chair,
To watch the world with a heart grown cold,
And smile at a folly I would not share.

Rose came by with a smile for me,
And I am thinking that forty year
Isn't the age that it seems to be,
When two pretty brown eyes are near.

Bless me! of life it is just the prime,
A fact that I hope she will understand;
And forty year is a perfect rhyme
To dark brown eyes and a pretty hand.

These gray hairs are by chance; you see—
Boys are sometimes gray, I am told;
Rose came by with a smile for me,
Just as I thought I was getting old.

OBSERVED AT A GLANCE

By HENRY JAMES

A writer who submitted to the monkey gland operation recently has disappeared from home. Perhaps the gentleman ran away to climb a tree.

To ask questions concerning a crime, is not necessarily "grilling" a witness.

A tanker at San Pedro harbor wrecked four ships that neglected to dodge. Nothing but oil in the tanker at that.

Hunting missing Arbuckle witnesses seems a part of the regular business of San Francisco authorities.

Insurance companies have been asked to pay $39,000,000 in penalties to the state of Mississippi. They have not paid it.

"Somewhere the sun is shining" declares a song, but nobody in southern California was warbling it last week.

The familiar operation of wiping out New York bucket shops for keeps is to be observed once more.

"Masks Torn From Reds" proclaims a headline. Perhaps this means somebody has shaved them with a dull razor.

The United States is soon to have a representative in Germany in addition to Bergdoll, who has been there for some time.

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

A TIRE SOME SQUABBLE

[Columbia Record]

The world is tired of the eternal Irish squabble. It felicitates the Irish people on winning unexpected concessions from the British crown, and it wants to see them settle down and demonstrate that they are capable of using that "freedom" which has for so long been their shibboleth. Only the agitators, whose pocketbooks are fattened by their professional activities, will sigh with regret at the functioning of the new government on the Old Sod.

WORK SILK SHIRTS GO

[Shoe and Leather Reporter]

One of the healthy signs of the times is the report from manufacturers that there is an increasing demand for work shirts. This is significant in view of the rage for expensive silk shirts which swept over the country during the war years.

JUST BETWEEN OURSELVES

By DELIA STEWART

Some of us are actively engaged in blaming poor old congress. Especially is it so with us who are new voters, and possibly a trifle more used to direct methods than are our brother men. "Why doesn't it do more constructive work?" we impatiently ask. Well, there are many answers to that question. If we're democrats, we will have one set. If we're republicans, we will offer another. And if we're of the camp of the independent voters, still a third list may be presented.

But here's one reason: Because of the "anti" that congress has always with it. There are so many that are anti-this, or anti-that, or anti-the-other. They are so bent on prohibiting others from doing things that they have no time left for doing things themselves.

Take some of the bills before the present legislative body suggested from the four corners of these United States by those who would compel us to "be good" (in their special way). These are the anti-gambling bill, the anti-cigarette bill, the anti-bill, the anti-beauty contest bill, the anti-beer as medicine bill, the anti-lynching bill, the anti-opium bill, the bill to prevent federal judges from engaging in other remunerative activities—the list could be greatly prolonged.

There's no question but that many of these evils should be stopped. But you can't legislate away human nature or desires—that's the trouble. "Don't do this," or "Don't do that," seems to rouse a little private devil in each one of us and becomes a challenge to get the best of that. That is, it does if we're human.

Why not enact an "anti-anti" law? Of course that wouldn't work any better. But why not put more thought on constructive effort for a time?

happened, by the British statement, anonymous but described as official, that Great Britain, in case of attack, reserves the right to increase her armaments as she deems advisable notwithstanding anything in the naval limitation treaty that is being drafted. The position announced is reasonable. Will anyone regard it immoral? If so, let them make the most of it. For long was the axiom respectable: "All's fair in love and war." A ruthless application of it in the world war demonstrated whether it leads. Do you imagine rules will be observed in the "next war"? Why, then, are they the subject of earnest debate in Washington? Why do shrewd leaders of war bother about agreements on rules which they know will be broken in case of conflict. So that they may exercise a restraining influence on the passions of men in the years to come. In his sober moments man recognizes certain courses of conduct as despicable. Committing himself to certain principles of honor, he will be reluctant to violate them. The rules that will be made in Washington will be broken in war, but that their existence may go far to prevent war and abolition of forces in the settlement of international differences is the ultimate aim of the nations represented in the Harding conference.

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

It is wonderful how much meanness and how many untruths an artist may compress into one cartoon. Such a drawing is the one entitled "In Sheep's Clothing" appearing (as readers naturally would assume) in the Hearst papers.

This portrays the four-power alliance as a wolf, with a fleece failing to disguise its real character as a creature of prey. It is labeled "alliance for war." A product so utterly stupid does not need to be condemned on any other ground. The fact that it is the expression of malice, or pique, or of desire for trouble, may be passed over as of no consequence. Stupidity kills the desired effect, and robs the artist of capacity for mischief.

It would not be fair to term the artist a fool. He is wise enough to understand which side of his bread is buttered, that is all. But he must hold himself in utter contempt for lending his talent to the puerile effort to deceive.

Some plan to make all share the bonus burden is being worked out by congress. The basis is fair enough. Everybody was interested in the war, and the results were quite comprehensively shared.

People said they would stand by the soldiers, and when they get the chance to do so, are not expected to protest.

There seems a likelihood that the old phrase, "free as air," is to become antiquated.

Necessity seems to have arisen for some method of controlling the use of the surrounding atmosphere. With machines dashing through the ether, wireless messages winging their divers courses, some way of preventing confusion and disaster is regarded as absolutely essential.

A bandit in Los Angeles ordered a belated pedestrian to hold up his hands. The pedestrian declined, ran away, and was overtaken by a bullet that pierced his left arm. He saved $30, and perhaps he needed the money.

This incident raises a question as to proper conduct on the part of one who is facing a bandit's pistol. Ordinarily fighting is worse than useless. It hurts the pride to surrender abjectly. Thirty dollars is real money. Yet a sound arm is of distinct value, and the bullet might have landed midway between the two arms, in which case the cash would have seemed less than thirty cents.

The chief of a narcotic band arrested in San Francisco has jumped his bail of $13,000. Some prisoners might have hesitated, but to the narcotic merchant a barrier only $13,000 high is a mere nothing.

One day of good sales and the gentleman doubtless will be in position to compensate his bondsmen, who for the nonce, appear to be displeased.

In a set of rules concerning correct manners, it is stated that it is proper for the hostess to place a few current magazines and novels in the guest room.

One learns also that in carrying fowl it is correct to use a sharp knife.

How wise it is possible to grow just by reading!

Chicago has something new in criminals. She is termed the auto vamp. She lingers by the highway, an appeal in her lovely eyes, until some kind hearted driver offers her a ride. Accepting gratefully she asks to be taken to her home.

Upon arrival at a suitable spot where her thug-lover awaits, the driver is hit with a blackjack. At this point his direct knowledge of his own experience suffers a lapse until he awakes at the hospital. Of course the vamps out here are not so wicked.

Stoppage of work on battleships has thrown hundreds of men out of employment. This was a phase of the subject that had not been thought much about in advance.

WATCHING THE PARADE

By JOHN PILGRIM

It's odd, when you come to think of it, how much we are all ruled by conventions. We are taught in youth that such and such a thing is true. From that moment on the old brain ceases to function to far as that particular thing is concerned. We have accepted—without question—the statement made by some one who may not know anything about the matter. It never occurs to us to ask: "But is that true?"

This came to me the other day on reading a letter written by a professional criminal. He was successful, he said. He had done well at his job. It was true that at the moment he was an inmate of one of the large, steam-heated stone buildings which we maintain for the benefit of members of our erring classes, but he could blame himself for his fall.

"I broke training," he said, "for the first and only time in my life. Consequently I was landed. If I had kept myself in proper physical and mental condition I need never have tumbled."

This man wrote in protest against the opinion held—held by all of us, I think—that the criminal is an unfortunate sort of a cuss. We think he is more to be pitied than censured, you know. If he had all his moral and mental buttons, we say, he would not be a criminal, and we think he realizes that fact and is sorry for himself. He is, in other words, a poor mutt, foredoomed by nature to failure. But the criminal who wrote the letter says that's all tosh.

"Failures in any line are sorry for themselves," he said. "A no-account doctor or lawyer is just as sorry for himself as is a second-rate criminal who has been sloughed by the cops."

He went on to suggest that the first-rate criminal who has made a success of his business is no more ashamed of it than is Elihu Root of being a great lawyer. He may not have much to say about it, it is true. If he were to chatter proffer positive would be afforded that he is not a great criminal. If he is caught he may pull a long face in order to impress the soft-hearted and thereby escape some part of the punishment due him.

"But those of us who are successful at crime are not sorry for ourselves," said the writer. "We feel no need of sorrow."

I have known half a dozen successful criminals very well. And what the writer from "stir" said is absolutely true of them.

Yet all my life I've been thinking of criminals as poor weaklings for whom one should be sorry!

Big Soda and Little Soda lakes, in the Carson Desert, Nevada, are believed to be old volcanic craters, whose tops are now almost on a level with the desert. They contain a strong solution of sodium carbonate or washing soda, together with other salts.

San Francisco is the center of the shark fin industry in this country, importing about five tons a month, mainly from the west coast of Mexico. Chinese merchants are the largest buyers and export the bulk of the material to China. The fins are generally dried in the sun, without salt or other treatment.

FIRE BREAK BEING MADE AT TUJUNGA

Meeting of Young Men at Home of Judd Jenkins to Form Club

TUJUNGA, Feb. 14.—The county and state forestry departments are uniting in constructing a fire break along the crest of the Verdugo hills back of Tujunga and Sunland. These hills are thickly overgrown and fire breaking out in them might do much damage if not immediately checked. The fire break now under construction is believed to be of sufficient width to check any fire before much headway is gained.

Extending from the east side of the hills to the vicinity of Orange Cove, back of Burbank, the break will provide an excellent trail between these two points. Work has been started from each end and will be finished as rapidly as possible.

A meeting for the formation of a young men's club for social, athletic and other purposes is to be held tonight at the home of Judd Jenkins, corner Haines Canyon road and Monte Vista avenue at 7:30. As many as could be reached have been notified but the originators of the idea wish it understood that all young men are invited. It is announced there will be music, chin music and eats.

A valentine party for members of the Quien Sabe club was given Friday night at the home of Mrs. W. H. Wieman, corner El Centro and Pine streets. A short business meeting was held, followed by games and music. Those attending were Mrs. W. H. Wieman, Mrs. Colby, Mrs. Patterson, the Misses May Manley, Stella Wieman, Frances Morgan, Beulah Stotts, Helen Kelly, Alice Kelly, and Messrs. Robert Walker, Don Wieman, Carroll Parcher, Addison Wells and John Smith.

Members of the Community church helped Mr. Millman, Sunday school superintendent, celebrate his golden wedding anniversary on Monday evening. A reception was held in the church at which a program was given and refreshments served.

'MOLLY-O' ARRIVES AT THE T. D. & L.

"Molly O," Mack Sennett's production featuring Mabel Normand at the T. D. & L. theatre today, contains sufficient material for several tensely thrilling motion picture plays. Thousands of motion picture theatre fans have a fond recollection of "Mickey" and in "Molly O" they will find a successor to her that is in every way more lovable, more developed and more entertaining. "Molly O" has far more amusing and exciting adventures than did "Mickey," and the production in every way is superior to "Mickey."

Mabel Normand in "Molly O" is the same fascinating, mischievous, sprightly that first won our admiration. "Molly O" has been brought to the T. D. & L. theatre at a tremendous cost. Ralph Allan announces the regular T. D. & L. admission prices of 17c, 28c, 33c and 39c will prevail as usual. A special musical score for "Molly O" has been arranged by Geo. Olsen.

MUSICAL READINGS

GEORGE DODSON STRICKEN. George Dodson of Windsor road, was taken this morning to the Glendale sanitarium suffering from what is supposed to be a stroke of apoplexy. He is being attended by Dr. O. A. Dietrich. At last reports Mr. Dodson was resting quietly.

It's far more important that a man should know when to be funny than when to know how.

EASY TO DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

You can Bring Back Color and Lustre with Sage Tea and Sulphur.

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it's done so naturally, so evenly. Preparing this mixture, though, costs home, is messy and troublesome. A little cost you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant.

Gray, faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound and look years younger.—Advertisement.

Foley's Friendly Fancies

JAMES W. FOLEY

THE IMPS
When as a boy on stormy seas
Of knowledge I was faring,
The little imps of Grit and Ease
My moods were always sharing.
Ease said: "Oh, give it up and quit,
You'll never struggle through it!"
And Grit said: "Don't you think of it!
Keep trying till you do it!"

At evening when near time for bed
With books and sums abounding,
I scratched my muddled little head
And heard the voices sounding.
Ease said: "Let's quit and rest a while,
We'll wear us out with working."
Grit said: "Let's muster up a smile
And never think of shirking."

And when I'd left my school behind
Whatever might betide me,
Those impish voices I would find
Always right there beside me.
Ease said: "Let's take some time for play,
Let's not just work and worry."
Grit said: "The task's to do today,
And time goes fast, so hurry!"

And here they are, just as before,
And chattering every minute.
One says: "Do less!" One says: "Do more!"
"Get out of it!" "Get in it!"
I think I'd be so fond of Ease
That idleness would get me
If I could woo her as I please,
But little Grit won't let me!

Note.—As the third twilight recital will be rendered during the Lenten season, a fitting program of sacred numbers will be rendered.

F. A. CLARKE GOES EAST FOR IDEAS

Mr. F. A. Clarke, president of the F. A. Clarke Company Good Housekeeping Shops, Inc., left Friday for an extended eastern trip to factories manufacturing the latest ideas in electrical household equipment.

"I plan to give the women of Southern California the very latest and best in labor-saving household devices," stated Mr. Clarke. The fact that we have, through intensive organization and systematic selling, increased our activities from one small store in Los Angeles to nine stores in the best towns in Southern California shows the appreciation of housewives for such service.

"We have, through actual demonstrations, educated the women-folk to quicker, better and labor-saving efforts in their housework. Every woman now knows the huge saving in time, labor and actual cash by using an electrical washer, a vacuum sweeper or an electrical iron."

"My trip will embrace visits to the biggest and best factories in the land making electrical equipment for the housewife, and the women of Southern California will be as well equipped in the matter of labor-saving devices as the women of any other section in the land."

Mr. Clarke will return in about four weeks' time.

MONEY GOES TO BULGARS

DENVER, Feb. 14.—Seventy dollars in America in the year 1922 doesn't represent such a lot of money. Not that anyone would turn down such a gift, but the same amount, translated into Bulgarian cash, is sufficient to keep a family of three from municipal charity for some time at least.

Dimitre Nichoff died here in August, 1917. His estate consisted of $70 cash and $250 in notes. Because his heirs could not be located, the estate was turned over to the state treasury. Recently Nichoff's widow and two children were located in Bulgaria according to word from the Bulgarian consul in New York city. They are in destitute circumstances, the consul's office learned. So the state has agreed to refund the estate to the widow and children.

Auto Mechanic, Clerk and Typist, Veteran Seeks Two-Fisted Job

With his automobile tools ready, four years experience in automobile mechanics behind him, out of his 22 years in life, J. Leon Greer, veteran of the Argonne and Belleau Woods, is in Glendale looking for work. He spent 32 months in the service altogether. During that time, in the all around demand on the front he learned to be a good typist and broke into the clerical work of the army on a 24 hour day basis.

As an all-around, two-fisted, veteran—young, able to hit the ball, he is looking for a job here. His address is 147 South Belmont street and he is rarin' to go.

BURBANK WOMEN WILL CELEBRATE ON FEB. 21

Reciprocity Day to Be Marked by Social Event at Methodist Church

BURBANK, Feb. 14.—Arrangements are being completed for an excellent program and delightful social event, to be given by the Women's club on reciprocity day, February 21. The affair will be held in the First Methodist church. Acceptances have been received from many of the presidents of the clubs of the district and, with the large attendance of the local members, it is thought there will be an attendance of nearly 200.

The program includes numbers by the octet of the Choral club; violin solo by Genevieve Robinson; recital by Miss Elder of Los Angeles, and a play entitled "The Teeth of the Gift Horse," given by members of the club.

The committee on decorations consists of Mrs. Ollie Swall as chairman and Mmes. Davidson, Ray, Kahl and Nicholson. Mrs. Anders is chairman of the reception committee, the other members being Mmes. Kendall, Johnson, Blanchard, Clark and Rogers. The tea committee is composed of Mmes. Soules, Anders, Sr., Wilson, Fitch and Mason.

An elaborate luncheon will be served at 12:30. Mrs. Delmont Locke will be toastmistress. Club members are privileged to bring a guest and the price of the luncheon to all will be 50 cents. Those wishing to make reservations for the luncheon may do so through Mmes. Ed. Fisher, Roach or Johnson, or any member of the board of directors.

DIXON SASH AND DOOR CO. IS HERE

With this issue of the Press comes the announcement of the opening of a branch office in Glendale of the Dixon Sash and Door Company, at 205 East Broadway.

This concern is one of the oldest and largest of its kind on the coast, sees the need of an office here to take care of its greatly increasing business in Glendale, Eagle Rock and Burbank.

P. E. Hoyt, who has been covering this territory, will have charge of the office. The company has furnished the sash, doors and glass for a great many homes and business blocks in Glendale and vicinity for a number of years, and it wants to be more closely identified with the growth of this wonderful city, said Mr. Hoyt, when commenting on the move of his company, which feels that no city in Southern California has a better outlook in the building line and want to give the home builder the benefit of its experience and facilities.

SUNLAND STAGE WANTS INCREASE

The Richardson Transportation Company has applied to the Railroad commission for authority to adjust its passenger rates between Sunland and Los Angeles. It is claimed that the present rates are totally inadequate and unremunerative.

EMERY'S HOME ROBBED.

Money night an entrance was effected into the E. U. Emery home, 329 North Kenwood. Mrs. Emery waked out of sleep and heard the clock strike 2. She also heard noises which sounded suspicious but nothing definite enough to justify waking her husband and she finally settled down to sleep with the conviction that a window had been raised or lowered in an adjoining house.

BURBANK FATHERS SALVATION ARMY ASKS FOR MONEY

Work Proposed on Santa Anita Street Is Signed Up

BURBANK, Feb. 14.—The last meeting of the city board of trustees was a lengthy one, as a number of matters of importance were discussed and questions relative to street work were brought up for action. Regarding the possible change in the grade of Eleventh street, members of the board reported that as the grade had been established by ordinance, a change could not be made without invalidating the bond issue, but that so far as damage by flood was concerned, the matter had been taken care of.

The street committee reported that it had not had time to look into the work as requested to be done on Cedar, Fourth and Fifth streets. The grading and improvement on Pioneer street is being given attention. The city engineer reported that there were sufficient signers for the work on Santa Anita avenue and he was instructed to establish the grades.

In the matter of improving Tenth street, the attorney for Mr. Cummings, who was the lowest bidder, declined to approve proceedings so the matter was continued.

Mr. Hartley offered the city a strip of land 14 feet wide along the westerly side of his property for street purposes, in connection with the extension of Santa Anita avenue. Also, in the same proposition, deeds were offered for certain property and accepted on behalf of the city, from A. L. Foster, Edgar L. Martin and wife, Fred H. Dodge, John Johnson and wife, R. Williamson and wife, and Albert Erickson and wife.

T. W. Dean expressed a desire for a bridge across Lake street, and the board stated the matter would be given immediate attention.

Mr. Tucker of the Layne-Bowler corporation of Los Angeles, was before the board and stated that the company had installed a new pump for the city and that it fulfilled the requirements of the contract, which statement was verified by the city engineer, so the clerk was authorized to draw a warrant for the payment of the pump.

A communication was read from County Assessor Hopkins in regard to the abandonment of sewer district No. 1 in this city, and the clerk was authorized to take steps to abandon the district.

Mr. Nelson appeared before the board requesting that lights be placed on Walnut street at Seventh and Eighth streets. This

Burbank Women to Start Drive for $500 in March

At the meeting of the directors of the Women's club, held last week at the home of Mrs. Groshong, it was decided to carry on a drive for the Salvation Army during the first week in March. It is the desire of the club to raise $500 for the Army.

BURBANK DANCES POPULAR

The dances which the social section of the Women's club is giving are proving so popular that the club rooms have become inadequate for the entertainments and Home's hall has been secured. The first one in that hall was given on last Saturday night and the room proved none too large for the many who took advantage of the occasion to enjoy the excellent music and refreshments furnished. These dances are attended not alone by Burbank young people but by numbers from Glendale and other nearby cities. They are given every other Saturday night.

MRS. WOODS TO ENTERTAIN

BURBANK, Feb. 14.—Mrs. H. E. Woods will entertain the Burbank Five Hundred club at her home on Olive avenue Wednesday. The decorations will be in harmony with St. Valentine's day, while the pleasant idea of hearts and darts and cupid will be emphasized at the luncheon. Mrs. Woods is always a gracious hostess and the club is promised a most pleasant afternoon.

SUNSET CLUB ENTERTAINED

BURBANK, Feb. 14.—The Sunset Canyon Card club was most pleasantly entertained Wednesday by Mrs. G. T. Fraser at her home on Olive avenue. The prize winners were Mmes. Filbach, Lovejoy, Kirkman and Rogers.

The ambitious man doesn't worry much about his gray matter.

request was referred to the utilities committee. After extended discussion it was decided to enter into a contract with the Holt Manufacturing company for the lease of a tractor for street work.

Mr. Herbert asked permission to establish a police patrol. This aroused considerable discussion, but it was finally moved by Rouscup and seconded by Crawford that permission be granted for operation of the patrol.

The city clerk was instructed and authorized to take up the matter of auditing the city's accounts with Auditor W. C. Graves, and report.
